Congratulations to everyone that received an award tonight! Arizona HOSA is filled with strong, determined leaders, and we are so glad your dedication was able to shine on the international stage!

Competing is a rigorous, nerve-racking experience that rewards perseverance and patience. By simply attending the HOSA International Leadership Conference in Dallas this year, you have already distinguished yourself from your peers! For some of you, this may have been your very first time interacting with thousands of students from across the globe. We want to applaud you for taking the next step in your HOSA path to success.

But remember, competing is only a sliver of the HOSA experience. With the hundreds of workshops, enthralling sessions, and mountains of passionate future health professionals available to you, we truly hope you were able to make insightful memories—some of which you may even look to for future motivation.

We all share one common passion: healthcare. Yet, we are more than just future physicians, researchers, or nurses. Whether in Dallas or Arizona, we are leaders. We can all make a difference through serving and continuously learning from others. We hope this experience encourages you to join us again next year in Orlando, Florida! As of now, Disney World is officially ready to welcome thousands of leaders, including you, next summer.
